DANNY HUNTER

This evening we welcome our good friends from West Ham United Football Club, can I wish their Directors, Manager, Players, Staff and Supporters a pleasant stay with us and a safe journey home.

Well after our promotion via the play offs last season, we've reached the last two weeks of pre season in the blink of an eye and as such the trialists who haven't quite impressed enough to get a deal have departed and we wish them well. That said I'm still expecting a couple more signings and us settling on a 19, 20 man squad in the coming weeks if the right players become available.

In truth we do feel the squad does not quite have enough depth or experience in certain areas at present, so we will look to bring in some senior players to supplement our current dressing room. However as I've said many times, there's no point rushing to make a wrong decision at this stage, so I've asked both Luke and Charlie Hunter to stay in the market, stay patient, be a bit bullish and stay tough with agents if need be but go with their instincts.

When you are looking at bringing full time EFL or National League players here, there are so many other factors to consider. Like where do they live? Will they need to re-locate? Do they need accommodation? Are they married? Do they have a partner and do they have kids?

Good recruitment for a club our size is always going to be difficult, but good recruitment is now such a huge part of my future investment, as we try and create a more successful club with an ever improving infrastructure. Properly run clubs like ours with planning produce positive environments, that in turn creates happy players, happy staff and if we want to keep our football club moving forward after promotion we will need a happy camp.

You always need good people around you if you want to build a good business model or football club and in all honesty good people do often come at a premium in today's market. That said we are not helped at present by unintelligent agents and intermediaries who are at present holding clubs like ours to ransom and its fair to say they are not my favourite people at present haha.

I have found along with Luke Garrard and Charlie Hunter, that if we find say a young player that possibly fits our criteria, then things quickly turn solely to a young players wages and it's then more about the agents fee..... sometimes that's difficult for me to compute, as young players often do have ability but most have absolutely no pedigree at our level to talk about and need time to develop.

Thats when some agents and intermediaries really annoy me, because they just don't do their homework on clubs like ours, they forget we have a track record of producing top young players and when I listen to them, most do not protect their young clients.

For me they often show no care and some don't even come and look around the club that they say they want their client to sign for, not before wanting to talk money. Surely their first actions before money, is to look around our training facilities, look at our associated facilities, ask about how we train, how we travel, what player care is in place, what insurance is in place?

I could go on and on, but most of these representatives don't even ask Luke where he sees the player fitting in or what system we play. If an agent doesn't know us or doesn't take enough interest to acquaint themselves with our infra-structure or take an interest on how we might develop the player, then I believe they are negligent in so many areas.

Yes you might sign for another club for an extra £200 but those clubs often have squads of 25 upwards and that's just short sighted, as most of these young players will get swallowed up and lost in the system.

We've of course lost players to these type of clubs who often have yo yo budgets, who have poor training facilities, clubs who no onsite gymnasium or rehab facilities. Many have poor pitches, no established infra-structure, some travel badly, some have little or poor insurance, some have poor medical departments and some don't even want to pay for consultants, scans, MRI's and operations when a player is injured - but I suppose as long as they pay better agents fees than we do, then the agents will continue to steer the player that way.

As such players, especially good young players and their families, perhaps with little experience do not always see the real reasons why they should consider signing for us. That said, an agent neglect is not a reason or valid argument for me to put less investment into our development infrastructure and more in the agents pockets to get a player, as I feel that's counter productive in the long run?

For me I would find that immoral as some of these agents at our level are not as intelligent as they think and some in truth are just plain greedy, as the real talent always lies with the player. In those circumstances we must choose to move on and look at what perhaps an older player might bring to our current youngsters within the dressing room in terms of their experience, nous and leadership, as these things are equally important to us.

Before we sign a player whether young or experienced we try to do our homework. We look for references and opinions which are very important as through our football contacts we normally find out about most players attitudes, discipline, desire and even the players support net work and family make up. Yes I know It's very easy for us all to go on Wikipedia and get a players age, their former clubs, their height, where they used to live and look at their injury record each season and game per season ratio - blimey even I can do that.

However Wikipedia will not tell you if the lad has had a difficult time in recent years through NO fault of his own, if he's struggled to get over a release, bereavement or relationship, if he's had a bad agent experience or been given bad advice? It won't tell you if he has an interfering or over caring family, if he has had relocation problems, if he likes social media too much, if he likes a drink, a bet or if he lives the wrong life etc.

As such a bit of 'old school' homework can help your decision making and by having 'old school' values aligned with solid football contacts and not being too judgemental, it allows you at times to trust your instincts and can help in making a decision on a players future..

All the data in the world for me are just helpful sets of indicators nothing more. For me the best managers in football at every level are still those 'old school' man managers. Those are the guys who can communicate what they want from players, what they expect from their dressing room, they will also protect those within their care, will try to improve them as people, improve them as players and will make them believe in themselves.

Good managers have a presence, some have an inner belief and confidence, some have well earned reputations and some are just great communicators in their own right..... All though will with the right club environment create care, unity, create a focus and most will experience success.

All though these type of managers are winners they will also have a personality. They will trust in their gut instincts and understand how to communicate simple instruction on how they see the game and what they want from a player. As such I'm sure our patient recruitment policy this summer will serve us all well going forward, but of course it can be hugely frustrating as we near the new season.

Club Info;

Next week our South Stand planning application finally gets submitted at HBC. In truth I'm very excited about it, as this latest project is aligned with both Meadow Park and Brook Road Car Park. It has taken me six years of meetings, architects, drawings, submissions, planning, arguing our residents cause, arguing the park users needs and arguing the clubs case to get what is an amazing local project to this stage.

In truth, the execution of the build over the next two years is both complicated and costly, but it's imperative for me, my partners, my sponsors, the council and our community to not only get across the board agreement but be ready to push this project on from a position of strength.

I know our supporters, town, community can see where my year on year investment has taken us and see how our past local investment has improved things incredibly. I'm happy in the knowledge that our fans can now enjoy these improvements on the pitch, within our bars, when sitting in the stands, standing on the terracing and all around our facility and so its now onto the away end and onto the next stage.

Although time and tide waits for no man, having just enjoyed my 63rd birthday. Can I say a very big thank you to all those who text, emailed, sent cards or letters to me, it was very kind of you all. That said we must not stand still for a moment as there is still so much to do here if we are to fulfil our ambitions of having our Stadium ready for the EFL.

As such we must start to plan with a bit more detail re the next stages of our development. It begins next week with the planning application almost ready to go. In truth I'm so pleased to finally begin the next stage of what will be my biggest development to date during my time as Chairman of the football club, made even better by thankfully being back and competing in the National League once again.

I feel I've learned from many of my mistakes over the years, and in truth the club has in my opinion never looked better. Its clear our support base has continued to grow, albeit a tad slower than some would like, but I'm always more than happy with steady growth.

Why? Because it has enabled me to build the club, build relationships, grow the fan base and cement good partners and good sponsors, all that has created long term collaborations with HBC, EBTC, AFC, AWFC and can now include our Education Partners at SCL in that.

The next stage of our growth though must involve the first team being competitive, the academy being strong and involve the completion at the South End of the ground, because we must finish our Stadium in double quick time while I'm young enough to enjoy it.

Why? Because as a community you all so deserve good facilities, and as parents and grandparents we all want to drive local standards up and as a club we also desperately want to deliver EFL football one day.

Only through sustained investment, only through community involvement, only with step by step improvement and only through the partnerships within our two councils, our town, our community and our fan base, can we hope to ever create long term legacy for our children, our grandchildren and that really does matter to me.

Back to this evenings football, the pre season games from tonight onwards will start to become true indicators for Luke in regards to what is perhaps still needed within his dressing room. After WHU tonight we have just two pre season games left and our next visitors here are ex football league club Rochdale on the first day of the season, before we make the long journey North to another ex football league club Carlisle United.

I must say win, lose or draw, I'm really looking forward to our first week back within the National League. It's of course a huge challenge but it's where I feel we now belong and I couldn't have said that 27 years ago.

Let's hope for an open, attacking game this evening and may the best team win.

Take care

Danny

LIKE GARD

Good evening, firstly I would like to welcome the Manager, Staff and Players of West Ham United to The Mangata Developments Stadium for today's pre-season friendly fixture.

With the season fast approaching, tonight will be another part of the process, and an opportunity to put Tuesday evenings performance to bed.

I addressed the group for a period of time after the game and again on Thursday, stating that the standards we have currently shown are way below what is expected.

As a Club we have ambitions and have an expectation of what this season looks like and with what's been served up currently, it doesn't align to what we are looking for.

I have personally addressed all the players this week, having honest conversations about how I feel they have been over the pre-season schedule and also my expectations of them for the coming season.

The standards from us all has to be consistent, as the level of The National League is always improving and we have to make sure we stay competitive within that.

We feel we have the nucleus of a group that has legs, energy and quality, something that we believe is important in the modern game, but we now need to see more bite and aggression within the group. Harnessing that blend is going to be fundamental as we need to find many ways to be successful this campaign and most definitely not be one dimensional.

We as a club have the experience of what it takes to compete at the top end of the National League, but also understand the fine lines between that and looking over your shoulder, the heart ache of two years ago has taught me personally a lot and having to be proactive and at times ruthless to ensure we are continually improving.

That's no more evident than the business we've done on Wednesday with the addition of Luke Norris which will give us that much needed presence in the forward areas, he comes with a wealth of experience and a goal record that we hope can add to our fire power.

We are hopeful that we can also add even more quality to the group in the coming days, there is continuous discussions with players that we know will take us to another level. And that's what's required if we want to achieve what we want to achieve.

Last year was great, getting promotion was exactly what we needed to do, but for me this season is a whole different ball game and I'll be judged on the results and if I feel players have had their time then I need to move them on as being sentimental just doesn't work when you want to be a success.

Lastly, I want to thank the supporters, you have been great since my return and I want you to know how important you are going to be this year.

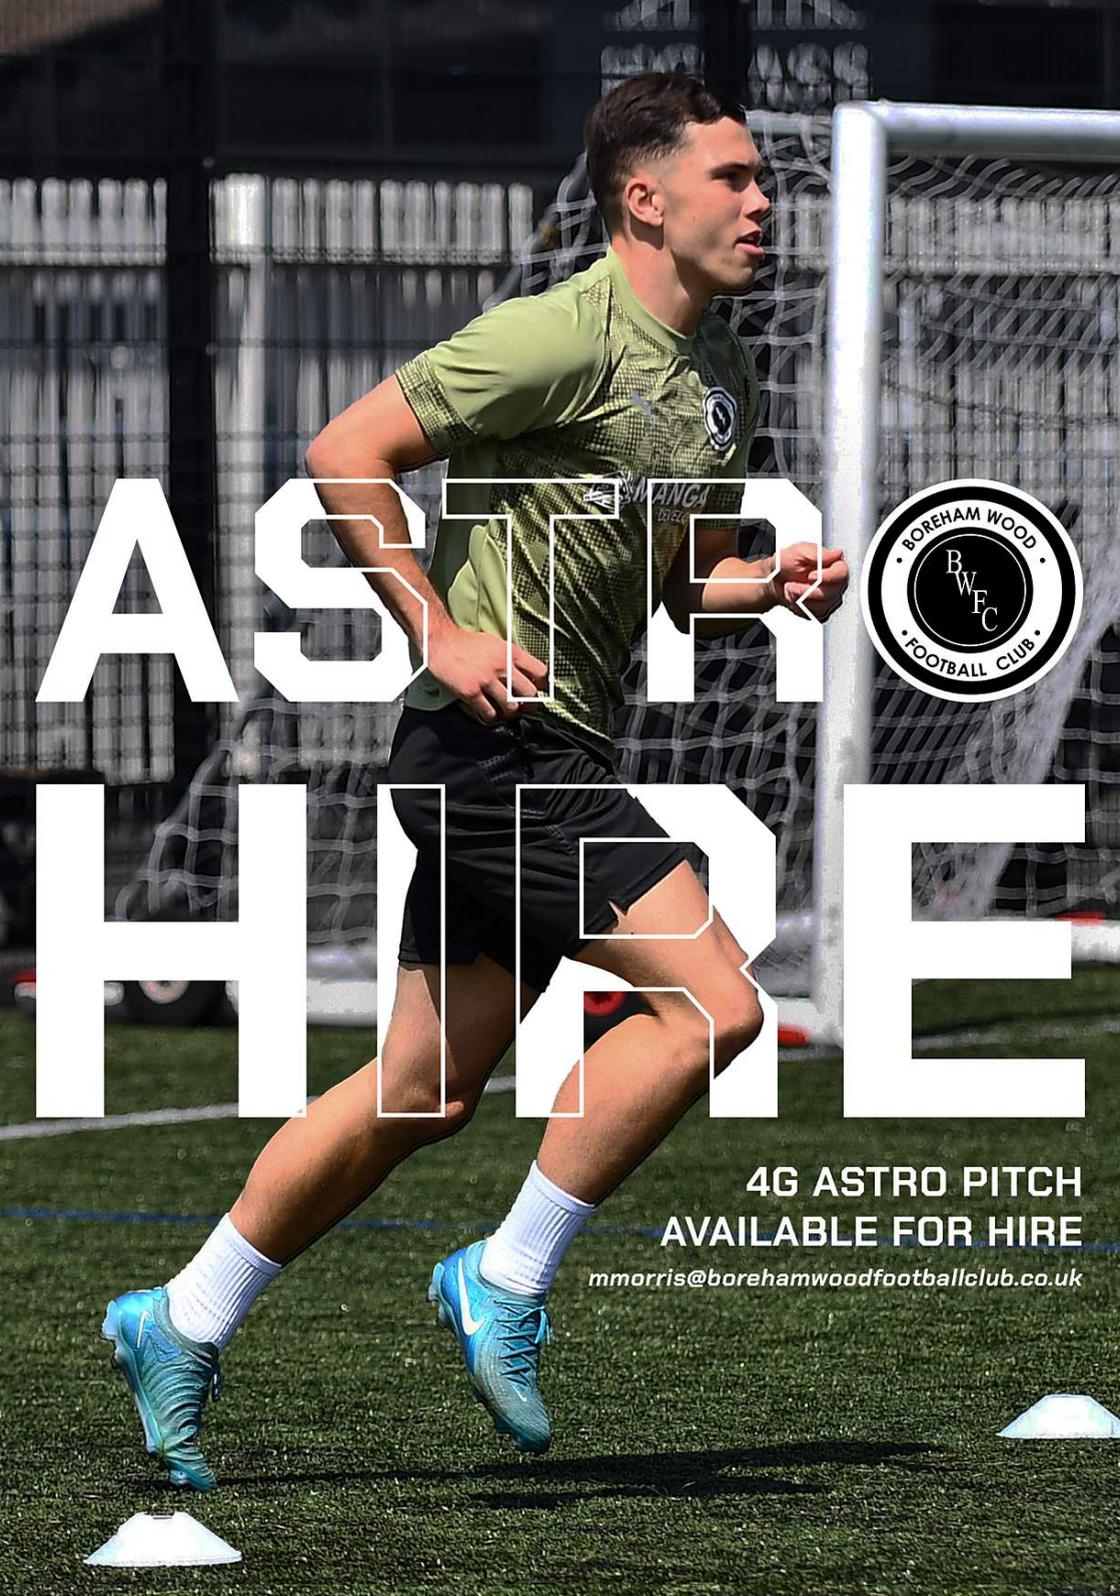

I want to create more memories with you all and for that to be achieved we need to stick together and stay united through all the ups and downs.

We know how long the season is and being positive and giving us the energy and noise we crave will be so important to our success.

Let's hope you enjoy the game

Get right behind the boys

Luke

Born in Upton Park, he enjoyed a 13-year playing career with clubs including Tottenham, West Ham, and Charlton. Robson held coaching roles at Charlton, Gillingham, Peterborough, Barnet, Norwich, and Aston Villa, and spent four years with the FA as a national specialist coach, also serving as England U17s assistant and U21s coach at Norwich. In 2023/24, he joined West Ham's first-team staff under David Moyes before returning to lead the U21s.

On loan at Concord Rangers, he became a fan favourite and won Supporters' Player of the Season. He repeated the feat with Hornchurch in 2024/25, making 53 appearances and keeping 17 clean sheets in National League South, showcasing his talent with back-to-back standout campaigns.

In 2023/24, he added 17 U21 appearances and four assists before a knee injury sidelined him. West Ham delivered a commanding 4-1 victory over the Wood at the Meadow Park, showcasing their Premier League quality from the outset.

Early chances fell to Flynn Downes and Danny Ings, both denied by inspired goalkeeping from Nathan Ashmore. Ings eventually opened the scoring with a curling finish on 24 minutes, before Kamarai Swyer headed in a second just before half-time. Jarrod Bowen's second-half introduction brought added energy, and after several close efforts, he bundled in a third from close range.

Bowen then set up Kideon Kodua to make it four late on, capping a dominant West Ham performance. Despite being second best, Boreham Wood carved out chances of their own, coming closest through Tyrone Marsh and Trialist A before grabbing a late consolation. Femi Ilesanmi capitalised on a defensive lapse to score in the final moments, but the Hammers' superiority never looked in doubt.

LATEST NEWS FROM MEADOW PARK

CLUB NEWS

WELCOME BACK, LUKE NORRIS!

Boreham Wood Football Club are delighted to announce the signing of experienced striker Luke Norris, who joins the Wood as a free agent following his departure from EFL League Two side Tranmere Rovers!

The 32-year-old forward brings a wealth of experience and a proven goalscoring pedigree across the Football League, having represented the likes of Gillingham, Swindon Town, Colchester United, and Stevenage. Norris is no stranger to Meadow Park, having enjoyed a successful loan spell with the Wood back in the 2012/13 season, in which he scored three goals in seven appearances as a young prospect from Brentford.

Norris began his career in the youth setups at Luton Town and Hitchin Town before earning a scholarship at Brentford, where he made his senior debut in 2011. He went on to enjoy productive loan spells at Northampton Town and Dagenham & Redbridge, scoring regularly in League Two before making a permanent move to Gillingham in 2014. Over the next nine years, he established himself as a consistent attacking threat in the EFL, reaching double figures in multiple campaigns and playing a key role in Stevenage's promotion-winning 2022/23 season.

A physical and intelligent centre-forward, Norris offers hold-up play, experience, and natural finishing ability, now returning to Meadow Park and looking to make a big impact in black and white. With over 450 senior appearances to his name and more than 100 career goals, his arrival adds significant firepower and leadership to Luke Garrard's side.

Luke Garrard commented, saying: "Luke brings a different profile to what we currently have within the frontline. You look at his goal scoring record at Stevenage, for us to get anywhere near and around that this year would be massive. Rushy and Junior are young with a lot of good strikers' characteristics, I feel Luke will complement the pair of them. He comes here with a wealth of experience."

We're thrilled to welcome Luke back to Boreham Wood Football Club and look forward to watching him help lead the line at the Mangata Developments Stadium!

Clayden (47', 60')

Elliott-Parris (76'), Olusesi (84')

19 July 2025 // 15:00 // Pre-Season Friendly

Wood played out a spirited 2-2 draw against a Tottenham Hotspur XI in an entertaining pre-season clash at Meadow Park.

After a goalless first half, where Nathan Ashmore made several key saves to deny an energetic Spurs attack, Wood came out strong after the break. Charles Clayden broke the deadlock just two minutes into the second half with a fine finish, before doubling his tally on the hour mark following a clever assist from Abdul Abdulmalik.

Spurs, however, responded with intent. Reiss Elliott-Parris pulled one back in the 76th minute, capitalising on a lapse in concentration, before a late equaliser ensured the visitors salvaged a draw. Despite conceding their two-goal lead, Wood showed promising attacking fluidity and defensive resilience for much of the game. It was another valuable pre-season test for Luke Garrard's side, who matched a strong Tottenham outfit for large spells.

15 July 2025 // 19:45 // Pre-Season Friendly

Wood were narrowly edged out 3-2 by Maidenhead United in an entertaining pre-season contest at York Road.

The hosts struck twice early on, Josh Umerah tapping in after a parried effort and Manny Onariase heading in at the back post. Wood responded well, with Junior Dixon denied by a last-ditch challenge before Matt Rush volleyed home just before the break to reduce the deficit. Maidenhead restored their two-goal cushion early in the second half through a Sam Barratt header from a corner.

Despite several substitutions, Wood remained in the game and were rewarded when Rush bagged his second with a well-taken finish midway through the half. Boreham Wood pushed for an equaliser late on, with Jordon Ragguette making an intervention to prevent a third goal at the other end, but the hosts defended strongly to hold on.
